Information about the town	- Location: Medium-sized municipality located in the north of the province, in the region of El Condado. It is located near the Guadalén and Guarrizas rivers, and the Guadalimar River also passes through its municipal area. The cultivation of olive trees is also typical of this area, mostly rainfed cultivation. There are large areas of farmed pasture. The region also contains forest land, with holm oaks and cork oaks, with an area even larger than that of the farmland, given that much of the municipality is in the foothills of Sierra Morena. There are three water reservoirs in the municipality: La Fernandina, Guadalén and Giribaile, with great potential for tourist use. The municipality also has diverse tourist potential, with its wetlands of environmental interest, its historical and artistic heritage, archaeological sites, and the hunting and fishing opportunity. VILCHES (Jaén) (verpueblos.com) Vilches is a very tranquil place, and you can enjoy hiking through the wonderful landscapes the village offers.

	There is a rich gastronomy based on the Mediterranean diet. There is also a great train station which conveniently connects the village with the rest of Spain. And maybe most importantly, the people here are very friendly and happy to share their culture. Vilches gives you a unique opportunity to experience a 100% authentic taste of Spain. www.abula.es
