

LAURA'S STORY

There was once a very small village called "Arquillos" on a street called "General Riego".

He lived a rich man to turn bad. He laughed at the poor and used his money to the poor.

But one day died of a heart attack. I never knew wich caused the heart attack.

He spent two years and spent another similar case, a dead woman appeared at home for another attack. The husband explained that his wife was very rare before the died, saying says strange things like apparitions at night or spirits.

Much investigated both cases through the streets of arches but found nothing... The years passed and things were happening but never revelated that happening.
