

COUNTING YOUR TIME

It counts the legend that in a little village called Arquillos, there is a clock where each 31st October the bells sound four times instead of three times (more than normally) this means that something bad is going to happen...

Now I'll tell you why this happen: this happen because the clock is haunted; one day, a normal man arrived to the city telling to the people: "Run, go away the city! If you don't go, you'll die drained."

But the people said: "Bff..you're joking, that is impossible!" And nobody noticed him because his appearance isn't very normal (red eyes, old clothes, disturbed hair). That night the people who hadn't gone of Arquillos died in their houses for not known reasons as they had been described by the man and all the peasants souls who died the 31st October are enclosed in the clock, because of it each year the bells sound one more time. They try to warn the people and be free of the curse of being locked up in this horrible clock.

Made by: María del Castillo sola-Isidro González 3rd ESO B.

