

BLACK SHADOW

In a town called Arquillos one day an event occurred that some people believe and others do not, this event is that there was a myth that was that if you found a black rose death was stalking you in Arquillos. A few days before Halloween, a girl named Claudia returned Arquillos institute as usual, but on the way back to her house he saw a black rose, she did not care because they do not believe in that myth.

That night felt strange noises, turned on the light and saw a shadow down the hall.

Arriving Halloween night he called her friends to go trick-and treat and stopped halfway in the clock tower to rest. They heard strange noises but thought they were other children who were asking for candy but Claudia's friend saw a shadow, got scared and went home to Claudia. Suddenly they heard a noise, the light went and again saw the black shadow, children started screaming but nobody listened to while everything returned to normal and his friends went home and it was too late. That night Claudia again heard the noise and hears the sighs that first night and saw the black shadow. The next day her parents found her dead. Some people think that had a heart attack scare and other people believed killed the black shadow, nobody knows the truth.
